Background

Following the publication of the Crerar report on the Independent Review of Regulation, Audit, Inspection and Complaints Handling of Public Services in Scotland in September 2007, the Scottish Government undertook to develop a simplified and more coherent approach to local government scrutiny, as part of its wider approach to improving the arrangements for the external scrutiny of public services.

A key aspect of this was the need to better coordinate and streamline strategic scrutiny work at corporate and service level, while continuing to provide assurance to the public. This marked a fundamental shift from scrutiny which had typically been based on standard audits and inspections done on a routine cyclical basis, to a more risk-based and proportionate approach.

In March 2008, the Cabinet Secretary for Finance and Sustainable Growth asked the Accounts Commission to undertake a transitional 'coordinating and gatekeeping role' in the planning of scrutiny activity in local government in Scotland. The Accounts Commission's transitional role was subsequently placed on a permanent footing by the Cabinet Secretary in March 2011, when he wrote to the chair of the Accounts Commission confirming that, "facilitating and coordinating... scrutiny relating to the corporate and strategic role of local government" should now be regarded as one of the accepted functions of the Accounts Commission.

We have sought to be open and transparent when preparing the National Scrutiny Plan and have therefore included all strategic scrutiny activity of which we are currently aware, as well as assisted self-evaluation work requested by councils which is designed to support improvement and build self evaluation capacity. In line with the phased approach requested by the Cabinet Secretary, our focus has been on planned scrutiny activity which assesses whole services or corporate functions. The plan does not therefore, focus on scrutiny activity carried out at service unit or institution level, eg school or care home inspections. The annual financial audit is also not included in the National Scrutiny Plan as this was considered by the Cabinet Secretary to be baseline scrutiny activity.

The National Scrutiny Plan for Local Government has been jointly prepared by the Local Government Scrutiny Coordination Strategic Group. This group includes the Accounts Commission, Audit Scotland, Education Scotland (ES), the Care Inspectorate (CI), Scottish Housing Regulator (SHR), Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary for Scotland (HMICS), Her Majesty's Fire Service Inspectorate (HMFSI) and Healthcare Improvement Scotland (HIS). Details of each body can be found in Appendix 1; they are collectively referred to as 'scrutiny bodies' in this report.

In developing this plan we have engaged with COSLA and SOLACE on an ongoing basis and we acknowledge the input we have had from them and councils to date in taking forward this scrutiny improvement work.

Part 1. Context

1. This fourth National Scrutiny Plan has been developed against the backdrop of significant change in the public sector and scrutiny landscape of Scotland including the Children's Bill, health and social care integration and police and fire reform. Local government continues to adapt and change in relation to significant budget pressures and in response to the four pillars of the Scottish Government's public sector reform agenda:

- Prevention – shifting resources to preventative activity.
- Place – integrated local services driven by better partnership working.
- People – workforce development.
- Performance – transparent and improving performance.

2. To ensure that scrutiny evolves and responds to the reform agenda, the Local Government Scrutiny Coordination Strategic Group has identified four workstreams to continue to improve scrutiny in Scotland. These workstreams are:

- improving the use of information and intelligence across scrutiny bodies – improving the manner in which information and intelligence is gathered and used by scrutiny bodies
- reviewing the Shared Risk Assessment (SRA) process – to align more effectively with scrutiny bodies risk assessment and planning and scheduling arrangements

- supporting self-evaluation – to develop a common understanding and approach to supporting self-evaluation and improvement within public bodies in line with our commitment to the Reducing Burdens Action Group recommendation to use self-evaluation information to inform scrutiny activity
- an approach to place-based audit and inspection – to design a framework to assess the quality, impact and effectiveness of local public services.

3. This work is unlikely to add to the scrutiny activity planned in the 2013/14 National Scrutiny Plan, but will have an impact on the way scrutiny bodies work together.

4. At the request of Scottish ministers, the Care Inspectorate tested a joint inspection of children's services last year and will be rolling this out across each local authority area in Scotland from 2013/14. The selection of local authority areas for inspection is based on intelligence and risk and takes account of the SRA and are included in the National Scrutiny Plan.

5. In addition, the Care Inspectorate is currently developing an approach to inspecting adult care services drawing on its experience of implementing multi-agency strategic inspections of children's services. The adult care services inspection sites planned for 2013/14 are included in the National Scrutiny Plan.

6. At the request of Scottish ministers, Audit Scotland developed an approach to auditing community planning partnerships (CPP) and the delivery of local outcomes. The CPP audit model was tested during 2012/13 in three councils. A comprehensive evaluation will be undertaken early in 2013/14. Following the results of this evaluation Audit Scotland will consider plans to undertake further CPP audits. Any sites identified for 2013/14 will be added to the National Scrutiny Plan in due course.

7. Scrutiny bodies continue to work with councils to support self-evaluation activity. The scrutiny bodies will consider opportunities to further develop this type of support activity over the coming year.

Part 2. The National Scrutiny Plan for Local Government 2013/14

8. Since 2008, the main scrutiny bodies for local government have worked together through the Local Government Scrutiny Coordination Strategic Group to identify and agree the key risks in each individual council and to develop a plan of scrutiny activity to respond to those specific risks. This approach, called Shared Risk Assessment (SRA), is designed to ensure proportionate and focused scrutiny and reduce the overall amount of external scrutiny activity in local government, while continuing to provide public assurance and help councils to improve.

9. The 32 Local Area Networks (LANs), representatives of the scrutiny bodies, meet annually to share intelligence and agree the scrutiny risks for each council. Each LAN prepares an Assurance and Improvement Plan update containing a scrutiny plan setting out the planned scrutiny activity over a rolling three-year period from 2013/14. These individual plans are aggregated to form the National Scrutiny Plan.

10. The National Scrutiny Plan for Local Government is one of the key outputs from the SRA work. The plan for 2013/14 is the fourth such plan and summarises the strategic scrutiny work from April 2013 to March 2014 as described in each of the 32 councils' individual scrutiny plans.
